

WORLD WIDE SPECIAL on the turmoil raging in Yugoslavia

David and Goliath

IN two pictures, the impossible task facing the outgunned and outnumbered defence forces of Slovenia becomes graphically apparent. This encounter, captured by Daily Mail photographer John Sherbourne in woodland at Logatac, 12 miles from

Ljubljana, shows territorial troops armed with rifles and rocket launchers just 150 yards from the awesome firepower of Yugoslav federal tanks. It was, as an official in Ljubljana said yesterday, 'a struggle between David and Goliath'.
